

I <sup>very</sup> think we should not start a meeting on this day without expressing a few words about what is in the mind of us all.
 We have <sup>the loss of</sup> sustained a severe and unexpected loss. It is so eulogy to say that the difficult task ahead of the world, which is called "winning the peace" has become immeasurably more difficult without Roosevelt. His death is comparable to the legendary death of Moses who saw the land of Kanaan but would not enter it, and we feel not so much or not only sympathy with him but also with the <sup>people</sup> ~~men~~ who had to ~~complete~~ the journey without their wise guide.

These items from the hand of Otto Fenichel. We are collecting anything of interest for our Historical Archive. Please contribute if you can.

The small sheet is a eulogy read at a meeting following the death of Franklin D. Roosevelt.
