

London

CANDIDATE COMMITTEE - QUESTIONS

February 27, 1950

1. The background of the split
- ✓ 2. The reasons for the split
3. Why the EC feels that the conflict is irreconcilable and necessitates the formation of two groups.
4. Whether the EC feels that the scientific and personal differences are completely unbridgable.
- ✓ 5. Question of split being based on personality clashes rather than on scientific differences.
6. Is there any basis on which the two groups might get together?
7. What is the relation of the EC of the Institute to the Society?
- ✓ 8. If two institutes are set up whether the individual candidates can take courses in both institutes and how this will be arranged.
9. Can an individual do control analyses with the training analysts of the other institute?
10. If there are two societies will it be possible to have membership in both societies?
- ✓ 11. What does the EC feel are the scientific differences that are so important?
12. Re Greenson's statement to the candidates re the inadvisability of having representative attend this meeting because of transference, Dr. Mindlin said it is felt by the candidates, including Greenson's, that this is an objective situation which creates so much reality for the candidates that they feel this meeting is important.
- ✓ 13. no delay of graduation?
14. what about Bd. of Trustees?