IS PSYCHOANALYSIS PART OF THE SCHOLARLY COMMUNITY?

This question forms the take-off point for a dialogue within the Society. As a follow-up to the presentation of Dr. Robert Wallerstein last winter, this meeting has been organized in order that the members of our Society shall have an opportunity to fully discuss and debate the issues involved. Has psychoanalysis been creating its own ghetto psychology or is continued operation in relative isolation a true requirement for successful psychoanalytic practice and development?

In order to facilitate the discussion a panel of four of our members has been organized, consisting of Drs. Abrahams, Dorn, Leavitt, and Stoller. The moderator for the meeting will be Dr. Mandel.

If this meeting is to provide the proper atmosphere for the discussion, it is urgent that as many members as possible attend. You are urged to be present and hopefully to participate freely.
